NSL WANTS $240,000

FROM INTERNATIONALS

Tony Henderson, Arno Bertogna and Peter Katholos were late inclusions among the Soc-ceroos who were split into A and B squads on

They bring to nine the number of changes to the original squad announced by coach Frank Arok early last month. Those who have dropped out are: Robbie Dumr, Claude Lucchesi (Makedonia). Howard Treclinnick (Melita Eagles), Paul Carter (Marconi) and, due to niqury, Pater Laumets (SM-Hellas). Phil O'Connor (Blacktown), Jim Campbell (Melbourne Croatia), David Skeen (St George Budapest) and Tony Dakos (Sydney Olympic).

His inclusion and those of Bertogna and Katholos have been widely hailed by supporters, as all have impeccable credentials. I feel Melbourne-Croatie player-coach Tommy Cumming also may have been included had he not suffered a shoulder injury Arok, as expected, picked an A squad based heavily on the one that played three matches against England last year.

The A squad will be in camp at the Camperdown Travelodge for three days from 9 am. May 15. The B squad will spend three days at a Melbourne hotel during the same period. The squads A SQUAD

Iraklis doubt

Irakiis's participation in the international series against Manchester United, Juventus, Nottingham Forest, Glasgow Rangers and Australie, may depand on the outcome of the second leg of the Greek Cup quarter-finals on May 23.

Irakiis and PAOX drew the first leg 0-0 lest Wednesday.

If Irakiis wins the second leg, it will advance to the two-leg semi-final on May 30 and June 6.

The Greek Cup final will be played on June 10, yet Irak-lis's first match in Australie is scheduled for June 8 in Adeialde.

The National Soccer League is to ask the Australian Soccer Federation for a $240,000 cut from the international series between Nottingham Forest, Juventus, Glasgow Rangers, Iraklis and Manchester United.

The league's ultimate weapon is the withdrawal of its players from the national squad — but that is unlikely to happen.

Unlikely to happen.

The request for compensation is being made because the NSL believes that a $240,000 sponsorship payment it had expected this year, now is in jeopardy.

West Naily Ltd was to have supplied the money, through ASF Marketing Ltd, according to a sponsorship deal announced after Philips Industries withdrew their backing for the league at the Marketing Ltd, according to a sponsorship deal announced arter Philips Industries withdrew their backing for the league at the end of 1982.

The NSL received $120,000 from West Naily for last season. But the NSL failed at the weekend to gain an assurance about how and when the $240,000 would be paid this season.

The league had objected to certain clauses in the original agreement with ASF Marketing, believing they would give the marketing company too much control over the league. If the NSL one only get the $240,000 each of the 24 clubs will have a season of the season of the test of the season o

The NSL argues that it is entitled to the money, as NSL players re being used in the national squad, and the NSL competition is eing suspended for four weeks.

The National Cup competition, to be played during that period, will not generate enough income, the league says, because the best players will not take part, as they will be on national team dury

South Melbourne Hellas, for example, has six players in the Socceroo squad.

Sydney City Hakoah also will miss six, and most other clubs also will be disadvantaged.
Receipts from the international series will be paid to ASF Marketing Ltd, in which West Nally Ltd has an interest. ASF Marketing ltd, in which West Nally Ltd has an interest. ASF Marketing will keep a large slice of any profit, after all expenses are met.

Terry Hennessy, who quit Melbourne Croatia two weeks ago, has taken charge of the Vancouver Whitecaps in the NASL.

Jones points Croatia up

Sydney Croatia's new coach, Mick Jones, be-lieves his current appoint-ment is his toughest as-signment in a coaching career spanning 20 years.

Jones, rugged as the winter climate of his native York-shire in northern England, overcame his first hurdles when the team drew 1-1 with St George and then beat APIA 1-0.

To secure those results Jones introduced wily defend-er Roy Drinkwater, who travels down from Newcastle three times a week for train-ing sessions

"Tbelieve I have the boys to do the job, especially as Drink-water is the right man to talk them down whenever his or-ganising experience is need-ed," Jones said.

"We certainly have the talent and my main job is to get them tactically prepared for the higher class of football in the NSL."

In Sydney at one time or another Jones has been in charge at Pan Hellenic (now Sydney Olympic), Sydney Hakoah Blacktown City, Melita Eagles and Manly-Warringah.

In England, his last appointment was with semi-professional Bridlington in the Mid-lands League back in 196-77.

On the staff were well known names Ken Boden, again with him at Croatia, and Marconi midfielder Craig Mason.

This is the third time the clever Boden has been with Jones, who was coaching at Doncaster Rovers in the English league when Boden was there.

APIA, for example, has lost a lot of support, and Melita Eagles at one stage were getting less people in the NSL than they were in the State League.

Meanwhile, in Melbourne, everything's looking rosy Hel-las, Heidelberg, Croatia, Makedonia, Juventus are all getting good crowds, even with minimal coverage in the major Press, where soccer is overshadowed by Australian Rules.

The federation's decision ended a protracted tug of war between Polonia and West over Kritikos since he returned from Greece last year. The federation studied appeals from both clubs before ruling that Kritikos was a free player and could join the club of his choice. When Sydney Olympic played against them last sea-son, we could have been ex-cused for thinking they were a State League outfit.

Suitably bankrolled, the club made its shrewdest move yet, when it went for Graham Taylor, one of the new breed of 'track suit' managers, who had just steered Lincoln to the top of the Fourth Division with a record margin of points.

That was also n 1977 and Watford has not looked back since, climbing out the cellar and into the First Division in a mere five seasons finishing runner-up to Liverpool, ahead of mighty Manchester United dream continue, or will the bubble burst?

Wembley on Cup final day is a very emotional place, and as we wait for the kick-off on May 19 (televised by Channel 9) the memories come flooding back.

Manchester City's goalkeeper Bert Trautmann, the ex-German paratrooper playing with a broken neck in 1985; gallant Manchester United, decimated by the Munich disaster, going down Vallantly to Bolton Wanderers in 1989 as half the crowd stood and wept unashamedly, and only last year, poor Gordon Smith missing a last-minute open goal for Brighton,

WATFORD v. EVERTON

For me, this 1984 Cup final between Watford and Everton is pure "Roy of the Rovers", the stuff that dreams are made

On the one hand, there's proud Everton, one of the original 12 who founded the Football League sacci in 1888, league, champion severa times, where there it mes, whose motto tells it all. "Nothing satisfies but the best' And on the other hand, there are the upstarts from that northern London dormitory suburbt, that used to be more famous for its railway station than for football. Watford Football Club has been around for a long time too. It was formed in 1897, and it entered League football when the Third Division was formed in 1920, but while the Evertons were steepping up with montonous regularity for the silverware, Watford was languishing in the lower reaches.

But that all changed in 1977, with the arrival of Elton John. Devight, (this real name) had been also been some forwer than of Watford in his teens. Football was in his blood after all, his cousin Roy Dwight had achieved the dubious double of scoring a goal in a Cup final and then being carried off with a broken leg, as Nottingham Forest beat Luton Town.

So, public taste being what it is, after the man with the straw hat and the speece became a millionaire, the next thing he wanted to be was a football club director, naturally of Watford.

Suttably bankrolled, the club made its enabling Manchester United to scrape home and win the replay Every Cup final has its heartache too. Last year it was Steve Foster who missed the game through suspension, and this year it will be watford captain Will Rostron who "lbe sitting on the bench regretting the action that earned him a suspension.

Wembley's the place for dreams to come true, all right, and I have the feeling that this final is going to be an outstanding one. The contrast in styles ensures it. Although Luther Blissett and his twin striker Ross Jenkins have departed, the Watford kyle still is there, sometimes initiatived by a massive clearance from goalie Steve Sherwood, and finished off by Watford's new striking duo, George Reilly and new Scottish cap Mo Johnston.

And Everton's Garv Stevens had hetter not

George Reiliy and new Scottish cap Mo Johnston.

And Everton's Gary Stevens had better not give England winger John Barnes too much room either, or he'll wreak havoc.

Everton's style, albeit less direct than Watford's, is equally as effective, with one of England's most under-rated players, midfielder Peter Reid, the main motivator.

Neville Southall, the current Welsh goalkeeper, has been brilliant all season; striker Andy Gray is brave and hard, but watch particularly for Adrian 'Inchy' Heath, the Smallest player on the ground, for whom Everton paid Stoke City almost one million dollars.

So who's it to be, the "Toffeemen' or the 'Hornets'? I've had to jump on to the Elton John bandwagon, and I only hope that by the end of the game I'm not singing 'That's why they call it the Blues'!

Coach Jim Foley has a thin squad, and says results are of only secondary importance. We all understand that taking over from KB United has been difficult, and that it takes a new team time to settle, but how can you justify results like 1-5, 1-4 and the latest, 1-8?

Any club playing Rosebud knows it's got an easy game, and that it's just a matter of how many goals it will score. Newcastle always has been known as a good nursery for soccer players who are hard and tough, but where are those qualities now?

Where are the will to win, and the never-say-die attitude?

But apparently, Juventus has been having a few problems.

Although Michel Platini, Zbigniew Boniek and Paolo Rossi have been scoring regularly, Juventus's new goalkeeper Stefano Tacconi is said to be not a shadow of Dino Zoff. What's more, stopper Sergio Brio hasn't lived up to his early potential, and Juventus is on the look, out for a replacement.

Those problems, on the other hand, aren't serious enough to prevent a Juventus victory. Just look at the line-up: Gentile, Scirea, Cabrini in defence, Platini and Tardelli in midfield, Boniek and Rossi up front, the emergence of under-21 star Beniamino Vignola and the growing reputation of Massimo Bonini.

UEFA Cup final, 2nd leg in London, May 24 SPURS v ANDERLECHT

Tottenham Hotspur was the first winner of the UEFA Cup, final. Despite the continued absence of Glenn Hoddle, Spurs are favored to win it again when it meets Anderlecht in the second leg in London on May

Spurs held Anderlecht to a 1-1 draw in the first leg in Brussels last week, leading after a 58th-minute header by Graham Roberts, but conceding the equaliser to substitute Frank Arnesen five minutes from the end. Steve Perryman and Tony Galvin of Spurs were booked for crunching tackles as the London side harrassed the Anderlecht midfield, never allowing the Belgians' 18-year-old Italian wizard Enzo Scifo to get into his stride. Perryman will miss the return leg as this was his second booking in this season's competition.

Juventus, which lost to Makedonia last Sunday, has an easier game against George Cross, Heidelberg should hold second place by beating lowly Newcastle-Rosebud at home, and Hellas, reinforced by Oscar Crino, should prove too talented for Brisbane City in Brisbane

But while it's mainly as you were in the National Conference, it's a different story in Sydney.

Olympic has been going from strength to strength, as is evidenced by its 42 victory over APIA last week, so Manfred Schaefer's men should be capable of knocking Melita Eagles off second place on Sunday.

men should be capable of knocking Melita Lagies on second place on Sunday.

If Sydney Hakoah falters against St George Budapest, Olympic would be level on points at the top — but that's unlikely to happen. as Hakoah is in brilliant form. Little is likely to happen at the bottom of either Conference, as Sydney Croatia, Wollongong, George Cross and Rosebud all appear doomed to defeat.

The Australian Institute of Sport team will tour Europe from May 21.

An 18-man squad will play in three of Europe's most prestigious buth tournaments — two for under-19 teams and one for under-

A combination of a mid-week buzz on the training track and a late switch in tactics brought about this convincing win for Make-donia.

Less than a quarter of an hour before the start of the game Makedonia coach Peter Ollerton confidently predicted a win for his side simply because of the way the players had been performing at training.

"The boys have really been flying on the track at training and the feeling at the club must be that they are working for each other rather than depend-ing on the stars to produce the magic to win games," Ollerton said.

Even later than that, Oller-ton made the switch in tactics, recalling Robbie Dunn into the 'backline and freeing Con Opa-sinis to midfield' after seeing that Juve speedster and dan-german Andrew Zinni was not in the opposition's starting line-up. line-up.

"I din't feel it was worth giving Con a tight-marking role when Zinni wasn't in and both he and Dunn had out-standing games as a result," Ollerton said.

Ollerton said.

Makedonia had winners all over the park, with Graham Heys having another brilliant agame on the wing, probing and teasing throughout the 90 minutes to provide the service for Gary Cole and Claude Luchesi. Dunn and George McMillan subdued Juve strikers Gary Ward and Joe Sweeney for long periods, and Opasinis and Ilioski had an interesting tussle with Robert Cullen and Eddie Campbell in midfield.

But the real star of the match was Zarko Odzakov who made this a day to forget for Richard Miranda.

Odzakov's performance was described as brilliant by Oller-ton, who added: "When Odza-kov plays well everybody in the side plays well."

goals were scored from crosses from the right wing.

The match as a whole was a credit to soccer in general, producing goalscoring chances galore with the open style of attacking game both sides adopted.

Juventus opened the scoring after a balanced first half hour when Gary Ward fended off a challenge from Ian Dobson to receive and control a through pass from Eddle Campbell to then fire a shot past Sean Keogh from outside the right side of the box.

But the lead was short-lived as Dunn, unmarked in the six yard box, rose to head home Graham Heys' corner kick two minutes later.

In the 40th minute, Gary Cole again found plenty of room to control and turn to send in a cross from the right which found Odzakov lurking at the far post to stam the ball into the back of the net.

Cole himself then broke his goal drought to send Make-donia in leading 3-1 at half time.

The cross, again from the right wing to the far post, which resulted in the goal was produced by an unusual and innovative tactic by Zoral Blocki, who trapped the ball between both legs and literally hopped — kangaroo style—past his Juwentus opponent to make the room to send over the centre.

Odzakov left the best goal of the game for the 72nd minute, hitting a direct free kick from all of 30 metres into the top left corner of the net, giving Keogh no chance.

Kanesoulis has a lot going for him at Helias. He's got great close ball control, he's Greek, he's young and enthusiastic, he's Greek, he's got an enormous heart, he's Greek, his disposal is first class and, of course, he's Greek.

Seriously though, here is a teenager destined for great things in Australian soccer and he can go a long way toward catching the eye of the national selectors when he performs for Victoria in the national youth championships in Canberra this weekend.

The goal that gave Hellas the points was well worked. Charlie Egan got the ball on the right and struck it low toward the near post. Kenny Murphy got possession, held it for a second then turned quickly past a defender and chipped Doug Brown was waiting and he doesn't miss chances like that His first time shot from just six metres didn't give Willie McNally much hope.

Dennis Boland is back with a vengeance.

The 33-year-old Footscray
J.U.S.T. goolkeeper — who has starred in the NSL since 1977 — was brought out of retirement three games ago, when Lou Tsigaras called it a day.

He had a poor "debut" in a 0-3 loss to Heldelberg-Alexander, and admitted at the time that he was far from fit.

After a crash training course under coach Cedo Cirkovic, however, Boland was back at his uncamp best last Sunday, enabling J.U.S.T. to draw with Melbourne Croatia.

Although outplayed thoroughly by Croatia, J.U.S.T. had the chance to take the lead as early as the fourth minute, when Belic headed the ball down to Jamie Paton who, however, missed from close range.

From that point, it was mainly one-way traffic, with Croatia laying siege to Boland's goal.

In between, J.U.S.T. had one more scoring chance, but after a square ball from Brian O'Donnell, Ariel Perez-Reigoza had his shot saved by goalkeeper Peter Blasby.

Peter Lewis and Jeff Faulkner deserve special praise. Lewis, always a full back before coming to Croatia, was used again in the midfled, where he performed as if he always had played there. Faulkner, who had been inconspicuous in earlier games, revelled in his new wide midfleid opsition, and was a constant source of attack for Croatia.

The same goes for Josip Biskic on the other side, while Jozo Antolovic provided the steadying influence in the mid-field. During the period of Croatia's greatest pressure, Antolovic picked up every ball that rebounded off the J.U.S.T. defence, and sent it forward again with constructive pass-es.

Shaun Parton was a tower of strength in Croatia's defence, and David Brogan, although he failed to score, was ever dan-gerous up front.

Tough man Macleod wants to play for the Socceroos

"Frank Arok talks about wanting players who are pre-pared to die for Australia. Well, there's no danger about that with me for I'm absolutely dying to play for Australia."

So says Don Macleod, Heidelberg Alexan-der's strongman in the centre of defence.

His reputation as a physical player detracts from his ability on the ball. Don Macleod simply doesn't win the ball and pump it upfield. He's left that style of play behind in the UK.

"In Scotland and England, you're expected to win the ball and thump it up the park. Here I've learned about playing the ball out from the back and credit for that must go to Len McKendry," says Macleod.

Scotland from the ages of five to 15. Bobby Gib-son, a Forest scout working in Macleod's native city of Glasgow, recommended the youngster to the English club and after two trips down south, Forest signed Macleod as an apprentice.

Macleod's first trip to Forest lasted for two weeks. He played in the third team alongside former Northern Irish international Lam O'Kane. Colin Barrett. Terry Curran and Bryn Gunn. On his second trip to Nottingham he played in a reserves match against Manchester United.

That was in 1977. Although Macleod was to spend four seasons with Forest without a first team league or cup appearance, he became reserve team captain. And his last two seasons there were spent as a full time pro-

"There was no coaching at Forest. Not in the first team anyway. Brian Clough was more of a commentator than a demonstrator. When I was there the first team trainer was Jimmy Gordona and he just used to keep the players fit.

"The Christmas before I left, I found out that four Scottish clubs — Morton, Airdie, Partick Thistes hadn't told me anything about that. Hilss were the hadn't told me anything about that. Hils were the honly full-time dub out of the four but when I spoke to their manager, Bertie Auld, he offered me a lot leas money than I was getting as a reserve player in England."

Macleod's brother Gus, now coaching Faw-kner but then scoring goals with Green Gully, spoke to South Melbourne Hellas and Heidel-berg about Don.

"I'd trained with Hibs for a week when Gus got in touch with me and told me about Hellas and Heldelberg's interest. I was ready to go on a pre-season trip with Hibs but when I considered Hel-

That was in the latter half of the 1981 season. There were only about six or seven weeks of that season to go and when Macleod arrived, he found out that his style of play didn't suit Heldelberg, then coached by McKendry.

"I wasn't really fit either, which didn't help. But Len McKendry worked hard on my game. He really improved me as a player and he gave me con-fidence to play the ball about at the back. I agree with everything he believes in about the game."

The present-day Macleod now is recog-nised as one of the finest stoppers in the National League. His clashes with Marshall Soper always are entertaining and Macleod has a lot of respect for the Sydney Olympic

"If you can dominate a centre-forward for the first 15 or 20 minutes of a match, he'll usuelly give in. I've found that a lot of centre-forwards in Australia are like that. But Marshall Soper is one of the hardest centre-forwards I've ever come up against. He never gives up and he'll always score goals. I'd have him in my team any time."

Macleod's only representative game in Australia as with Victoria against Hungary in 1982.

"We lost that match 2-0 but the press never gave us the credit we deserved. I thoroughly enjoyed the game and I thought that it was a great result for us. The Hungarians were going to the World Cup finals in Spain a couple of months later but the press didn't seem to realise that. I thought that they were very unkind to Len McKendry.

"I asked the club for a move but they refused. I still was tied to them for another year. Anyway, things have worked out well. Brian Garvey is a good coach. He does things his own way but he is also prepared to listen to other points of view. He's got all the players working for each other and that's the key to our good form.

"We should have "beaten Juventus the other week I really don't think that they! I win the league. If we can get another two players — a midfielder and a forward — then we can win the championship."

Sam Goulopoulos, Heidelberg-Alexander's president, isn't keen on the idea of having to travel to Adelaide and Brisbane to play NSL games. Especially Brisbane.

"This new format won't last. No way. In fact, I reckon that it could be changed for next season. It's simply not viable to have Brisbane clubs in the National Conference," said Goulopoulos.

"Clubs from Brisbane and Adelaide don't bring any fans to our games and that's what it's all about — getting people back onto the terraces. "In fact, a 10-team league in-cluding the two Adelaide teams, wouldn't bother me. We could play each other three times like they do in the Scottish Premier Lea-gue."

That's Goulopoulos for you. There's never a prob-lem trying to prise a point of view out of the Heidelberg boss.

He's even got a few words of wisdom for the VSF.

"Stop all Junior games after 1pm on Sundays. Let he kids go along to NSI, matches with their parents and watch the best standard of club soccer in Australia."

However, Goulopoulos believes that the standard of the NSI, hasn't improved in the past few seasons.

"The standard of the NSI, definitely has gone down, at the number of really good clubs in the National Conference for example. On paper Juventus has a very good team and they've got an astute coach in John Margaritis. South Melbourne Hellas has got Len McKen-

However, it's hard to stop him talking about the way Heidelberg Alexander has been playing recently. "We've got a very happy, enthusiastic and united team. Everyone works for each other. I know that I can team. Everyone works for cach other. I know that I can go home and sieep peace-fully at night now. In the past we were branded as a dreary side to watch. That's certainly not the case now. We play a fast, flow-on style of game and that's shy watch us. Okay, so we long a big game the other week to Juventus. That didn't worry me one bit. Heidelberg Alexander also is shaping up well off the field. The club is paying off a $200,000 loan from the Heidelberg council. That money went a long way toward paying for the major renovations which have taken place and will continue at the club's Olympic Village headquarters. The club has got 10 years to pay off the council loan. Already it has spent over $220,000 on Olympic Village.

When Goulopoulos retur-ned Jast January from Holi-days, he found that many of his established players were adamant about leaving Heidelberg. It was a crisis' period for the club, and, as things turned out, many of last year's first team squad left.

"When we released players like Gary Cole and Jim Campbell, the timing was wrong. So was the way in which we went about it. But that's in the past. We all tearned from it.

Alexander first was promoted to the Victorian State League for the 1964 season but promptly was relegated. In a game that was spoiled by a strengthening wind and a high bouncing ball, the only action worth mentioning in the first hour were two fine reflex saves from point blank range, one by Madjer in the 34th minute and one by Muir in the 50th minute to deny Nyholt. The first hour was also marred by inconsistent refereeing and the sending off of W. Greenwald for dissent in the 40th minute.

In the 61st minute a crossfield ball from Hoyland found Luca unmarked and he gave Madjer no chance with his shot from 15 metres. Springvale's additional man was now beginning to tell and Madjer made at least four point blank saves in a faultless display.

With this win Rockdale certainly has made its presence felt and will be hard to toss. But before the side can stake its claim to one of the top four places it must sort out some of its defensive problems.

Sutherland 2 Ku-rin-gai 0

rs: Harrington 51st, Stoddart 80th. Vanue: Saymour Shaw Park.

After losing two successive games at Seymour Shaw, against Inter Monaro and Rockdale, Sutherland celebrated a welcome return to form to defeat Ku-Rin-Gai, but not before having to overcome some stubborn resistance from the Chasers.

Mark Harrington notched his first goal of the season to give Sutherland the lead after 51 minutes. Following a free kick, Harrington made no mistake from a short pass by Gardin Stoddard scored Sutherland's second close to full-time following a chip over Ku-Rin-Gai's defence, but in the meantime the bome side did very little to confirm its did very little to confirm its favouritism for this year's title. Avala 2 Warr, Narabeen D

After conceding 23 goals in the first six rounds, Avala recalled last year's keeper, Peter Ahrens, and now has won two matches without conceding a goal. Against Polonia (1-0) and in the Sunday encounter against Narabeen 2-0.

It is a credit to Ahrens, but also to some of the players who appeared to have turned over a new leaf in 1984.

The appearance of Ricky Budini as well as Richie Wil-liams at Avala was a tre-mendous boost and at the right time, suggesting that from here on Avala will certainly be a force to reckon with.

Manly Warringah 2 Yugal 0

Scorer: Stuart 4th, 60th. Venue: Cromer Park.

The Seasiders entinued their good 1894 form by disposing of Yugal to the tune of 2-0 at Cromer Park to retain second position on the League table. Manly's win was marred by the loss of Tom Steven just before the break. It appears that a hamstring injury could keep him out for at least a few weeks.

Manly's captain, Steven was his side's inspiration this year and will be hard to replace.

And while Stuart celebrates the goals, Bruce Doyle takes the title of the Man of the Match for his non-stop performance. He ws ably supported by Bobby Pagano, the ever alert fullback who made a fist of running forward to add depth to his attack.

RATCLIFFE READY FOR ROSSI

players like United's chester United's Frank Stapleton, Paolo Rossi of Ju-ventus and Glasgow Rangers' Ally McCoist would be a difficult proposition difficult proposition for any defender.

for any defender.

David Ratcliffe, who did a fine job marking England's world renowned striker Trevor Francis during three games last year, has an even more difficult task in the coming international matches.

Ratcliffe, a hard and accomplished central defender, is confident he can keep close tabs on Rossi, McColst and Stapleton.

"It can't be any harder than playing against Francis," Ratcliffe said.

National coach Frank Arok, who also coaches Ratcliffe's club side St George, was impressed with the way Ratcliffe handled himself against Fran-handled himself against Fran-cis.

"David had an everlasting duel with Francis in the three games last year. He did a thorough job marking him, and consequently Francis only socred one goal.

"Playing at centre-back is a very important position in a very important position in senting the centration must last 90 minutes. Ratcliffe has these attributes," Arok said.

Before arriving in Australia in 1978, Ratcliffe has spent six seasons as a fulltime profes-sional with English Third Divi-sion club Bradford City.

Ironically, it was ex-National coach Brian Green, coach of the Leeds United reserve team, who arranged for Ratcliffe to join Brisbane City in 1978.

"In the first season we came last in the league but won the Philips Cup. In 1979 we came third in the league and lost the Grand Final against Sydney City on aggregate 2-1.

"The 1980 season was disappointing but in 1981 we finished third in the competition," Ratcliffe said.

In 1982 he joined sydney Club St George, and has continued on the path of success under the guidance of Arok.

In 1982 the Saints finished the season in third spot but won the Grand Final and last year took out the NSL title in a nail-biting finish.

Ratcliffe has played a big role in the St George success. He faces his biggest test in the next few weeks when he will be matched against some of the world's best strikers.

ANDREW DETTRE COLUMN

Soccer, one feels, should do everything in its power to arrest the steady worldwide fall in attendances and to make the game more attractive to fans — almost through any means.

Although I do agree with the traditionalists that soccer's rules should be changed only when unavoidable, some cosmetic touches would do no harm.

Some of these would not alter the character of the game at all — merely tighten existing rules or their interpretations.

They could heln allminate account.

tighten existing rules or their interprotations.

They could help eliminate some of the intritating features of the game which, like warts, have grown on soccer's face in recent years.

One of these is the wide variety of circus sets preceding free kicks.

The rules are very simple: "...all the opposing players shall be at least 10 yards (9.15 metres) from the ball ... untit the ball has been kicked.

This rule is hardly ever enforced by referees who usually allow opponents to creep closer than 10 yards as though they disagreed with FIFA's ruling.

What's worse, the rule assumes that the referee can estimate procisely the 10-yard distance, position the defending wall beyond that frontier, then watch whole scene before and differences won't encroach in the area to cheat.

• Italy is favored to be chosen as host of the 1990 World Cup finals. The decision by FIFA will be made on May 19.

The only other candidate is the Soviet Union. Earlier aspirants have withdrawn tholland-Belgium duo, Yugoslavia and England.
Italy held a World Cup series in 1934 and would be the first European country to vice. Mexico, host in 1986, also held the World Cup once before, in 1970. It's almost certain that the vote in FIFA will be cast along political a The Eastern Bloc countries, much of Africa and a few Asian countrie:

Inion.

However, this is unlikely to be sufficient to upset Italy's claim.

However, this is unlikely to be sufficient to upset Italy's claim.

Italy would be almost certainly stage a supper World Cup. It has the necessary stadiums, to totels, transport and communications networks all practically ready.

It would be a more ideal site for advertising revenue than the USSR — and it could genuch more dollar-profit for FIFA and the participating members than the Soviets.

Companies like West Nally, Coca Cola and others will ultimately play a big part in influence than due hunch is Italy...

Let's put an end to the free kick circus

I think a fairly simple device could help here. Let the referees step out the necessary 10 yards — 10 very big adults steps — then leave a colored marker on the ground.

The first defender who either creeps past the marker or actually moves it is booked — so is the second and third; soon there will be some order and the rule will be kept which is now largely ignored.

rule will be kept which is now largely ignored.

One of the most annoying habits of players — either condoned by referees or deliberately not noticed — is to prevent the quick taking of free kicks.

This is what they do. A foul is committed, the referee promptly whistels, play stops and the ball is placed for a quick free kick.

But it cannot be executed because a player of the offending side stands right in front of the ball, arguing with the referee — gaining time for his team to pull men back.

Even worse is when the player of the men back.

Even worse is when the player of the offending team actually flicks or throws the ball a few yards further back as though he was being pedantic about the exact spot, the very blade of grass from which the freekick has to be taken.

This, once again, helps the guilty team to gain time and punishes the innocent side which is prevented from taking the free kick quickly and effectively.

A new rule interpretation would be useful here: no player from the offending team should be allowed to touch the ball after the whistle has gone for a free kick.

If any player still does — in order to deay the taking of the free kick, as did for example almost all the Italians in the 1982 World Cup — they should be booked, even sent off.

Or take the time-wasting nonsense that goes on at throw-ins — almost always by the team in the lead.

A player walks to the touchline in always by the team in the lead.

A player walks to the touchline in order to throw in the balt; picks it up, looks around and then, as if he didn't like the scene, drops the ball and one of his team-mates arrives to execute the throw-in, at his leisure.

It's hardly ever that you'll see a referee warn these time-wasters; the worst that happens is that the referee stemily opinits towards his wrist watch, showing forgets to add the time at the end of the game...

A simple rule here could be a big help. Once a player has picked up the ball for a throw-in, he should a cette the throw. If he drops the ball or passes it to a team-match, there are should remove the second that the second help to the other team. This would eliminate the oftenpeated circus that goes on at the sidelines with teams in the lead arrogantly waiting time and the referee, far too frequently, letting them.

I also wish the International Board, which is the guardian of all rules and rule changes, would examine one more area which needs some revision.

The greatest curse of modern area which needs some revision.

The greatest curse of modern soccer is the backpass. It slows the game; indeed, kills it.

I would make it illegal to backpass the ball to the goale form-outside the penal-type.

This would speed up the game, force the greatern of the penal-type in the penal-type in pretations.

One can only hope that these and other little irritants will soon come to the attention of soccer's lawmakers.

"The new format has taken a great deal of organising," said Shoulder.
"But in my view the new-look approach was vital. We needed something more than just teams playing against each other." The new-look format, because of its intense coaching and seminar components — even mini-referee courses for participating 'whist-lers' — has brought the Federal Government in on the act to the tune of a subsidy of $30,000 — one that will now be repeated yearly.

The subsidy is part of the Federal Government's sports and recreation grants program. Shoulder said that with the assistance of the State coaches — and this year assistants to each State coach—each of the players at the camp would be assessed on both his technical, as well as physical abilities.

on May 19.

For one week of every month thereafter until late in the year, six or eight players will be brought to Canberra for special coaching and additional assessment.

Additionally, Shoulder will also hold special camps — in July and August — in Sydney and Melbourne and progressively between the end of May and October visit all soccer 'States'. "By October I will have identified all but a handful, or less, of the 24-man squad," Shoulder said. Considering I've had so many of them since their under-16 days they are known to me." Shoulder said he was also glad that a second, or apprentice-coach will come with each of the State squads. "This gives you the extra people needed," all hink the format will be a step in the right direction to bigger and better things for the participants and the game of soccer."

La Juventus ha finora vinto più di ogni altra squadra nel suo girone, ma in alcuni casi ha fatto veri e propri miracoli che non possono essere ripequit tanto spesso (quello contro l'Heidelberg e' il più 'classico); ha antusiasmato il pubblico sempre crescente perche' in quasi tute le partite tutti i giocatori hanno dato anima e corpo; ha soddisfatto anche i più 'esigenti perche' alcuni giocatori hanno dotto anche i più 'esigenti perche alcuni giocatori hanno fontito delle prestazioni eccezionali

Ma in linea di massima non e' lo squadrone cia i saluto in squadrone cia i risultati avrebbero pottuto far sembrare. C'e' voluto un vero squadrone in forma per mettere a nudo definitivamente alcune deficienze della Juventus. Cominciamo dall'estremo difensore Keogh che e' un portura brilliante a cui si debbono alcuni punti dei 15 che la Juventus ha incamerato. Il ragazzo, come ci aveva detto il suo ex allenatore McMecham all'inizio dell'anno ha pero la comine dell'anno ha pero dell'anno dell'anno de se fosse uscito dai pali come un portere completo avrebbe doutto Lizzure almeno due se fosse sustito dai pair come un portiere completo avrebbe dovuto arte proche Keogh non ha ancora sviluppato questo unumero del repertorio, sarebbe necessario che I suol difenori centrali stassero al loro posto per contrastare gli avversari, invece domenica la marcature al centro dell'area sono state inesistenti o almeno approssimate.

marcature al centro dell'area sono state inesistenti o almeno approssimate. E questo ci porta al generosissimo Rogers che, pur essendo il nonnetto in bianconero ma ci na chilometri in ogni partita con il risultato che a volte si trova duori posto o crea confusione tra i compagni della difesa che non samo mai dovo si trovi, un po' più di disciplina del pur ottimo capitano sarebbe molto utile per chiludere le maglie della difesa bianconera. Il centrocampo juventino e'

In avanti Ward e Sweeney sono due "punte" non tanto affilate ed hanno percio" bisogno di gente che metta pressione ed apra la difesa avversaria per UNO stoccatore (DUE sono troppi) o che all'occorrenza sappia andare a rete e abbia la velocità" di correre su rimpalli o sappia mandare palle al centro dell'arrea avversaria. Zinni naturalmente fa molto bene questo lavoro, ma anche Cullen potrebbe fare altrettanto sul fato opposto se non dovesse giocare a centrocampo, dove invece potrebbe andgre meglio Lloyd che stoccatore, on e' che veloce non e', e che non eccelle nei traversoni, ma che in compenso e' un duro e caparbio centrocampista capace di distruggere il centrocampo avversario e allo stesso tempo di dar man forte in avanti quando ce ne fosse bisogno. Con i giocatori adesso a dispoziona rebbe il caso di apostare Cullen ad ala destra (con ruola di intornante) (cn. Lloulo di intornante)

Incantalupo il gioco sarebbe fatto con un altro centrocampista avanzato capace di cannoneggiara la porta avversaria da lontano, ma purtroppo il recupero di Fabio sta prendendo motio di Fabio sta prendendo motio di Pabio sta prendendo motio di Pabio sta prendendo motio (Che olirettuto e' intenzionato ad andare in vacanza in Scotia per tre mesi perche 'ornai crede di non farcela a riprendersi per quest'anno) e quello di Drinockzy.

La morala della favola e' che la Juventus si trova a corto di giocatori affidabili e che a quelli che sono sulla breccia non si può chiedere miracoli di continuo. Per il George Cross non ci dovrebero essere gravi timori e Margaritis farebbe addirittura benae a dare un turno di riposo a giocatori troppo provati, ma la settimana dopo l'Heidelberg sara' un osso duro da roders' inizieranno le

ΣΤΑΜΑΤΉΣΕ Ο ΚΟΥΡΈΒΕΛΗΣ

'Ο προπονητής τού Πυθαγόρα Γιάννης Κουρεβέλης, διέκοψε την δυνεργασία του με τη Σαμιώτικη δμάδα ή όποία το περασμένο Σάβ βατο έχασε άπό τό Ντάλλας 3-0.

Βιάστηκαν την περασμένη βδομάδα μερικοί "καλοί" φίλοι της στήλης νά πούν στόν τε χνικό τους Τάκη Μανταράκη: " Είδες ποδ έ χεις καί φίλους δημοσιογράφους; Έγραφαν ότι έσυ φταίς που έφυγαν οι παίκτες 'Αρβανίτης καί Φιλιππής".

Ναί γράφαμε ότι ήταν λάθος πού τούς άφησαν νά φύγουν, μόνο πού όπως μάθαμε άπό τον ίδιο του προπονητή ή αίτία δεν ήταν αύτός άλλά ή διοίκηση πού είχε οίκονομι κές διαφορές μαζί τους.

Αθτή λοιπόν είναι ή άλήθεια καί όχι ότι δ Τάκης Μανταράκης φέρει καμμιά εύθύνη.

METPIA Η ΕΛΛΑΣ ΠΗΡΕ THN NIKH I-O

Χωρίς νά παίζει καλό ποδόσφαιρο ή Έλλάς Μελβούρνης κατάφερε να νικήσει την άρκετά πεσμένη Γιουβέντους 'Αδελαϊδας Ι-Ο καί μέ τέρμα τού Μπράουν στό 58' ένώ στό 51'ό Βι λάνι της Γιουβέντους σημάδεψε τό δοκάρι. ΕΠΕΙΣΟΔΙΑ ΓΙΑ ΤΗΝ ΑΛΛΑΓΗ ΤΟΥ ΚΑΝΕΣΟΥΛΗ

Στό 59' της συνάντησης της Έλλάς με την Γιουβέντους, έγενε μεά άλλαγή που ξεσήκωσε την έξέδρα και ακούστηκαν πολλά...

Ou. Ou . Ou wal Sigugoruolec. Ο Κρίνο πήρε την θέση τού νεαρού ταλαντούχου Κανεσούλη.

Όπωσδήποτε δέν άμοιβάλει κανένας γιά του Κρίνο και την άξια του άλλά ήταν άνα νά βγεί δ Κανεσούλης την στιγμή πού ύπήρχαν άλλοι παίκτες οί δποίοι δέν ύπήρ χαν μέσα στόν άγωνιστικό χώρο;

Φυσικά το είχαμε στά υπόφη μας ότι θά γι νδταν κάτι τέτοιο καί στάθηκε τυχερός δ προπονητής τής Έλλάς που κέρδισε γιατί διαφορετικά θά είχαμε πολλά γεγονότα.

Συγκεκριμένα μόλις έγινε ή άλλαγή πολλοί άγανακτησμένοι φίλαθλοι δρμησαν στόν Μακέντρυ οί όποίοι με τήν επέμβαση τής άστυνομίας άπομακρύνθηκαν, ένώ ένας

Ή Έλλάς αν ύστερούσε την περασμένη Κυ ριακή ή δυ δστερεί στό τελευταία παιγυί δια ίσως νά φταίνε άλλοι παράγοντες καί δηι δ Κανεσούλης.

Δάθος άλλαγή... μεγάλο λάθος.

Έτσι λοιπόν κτύπησε καί τό χέρι του έπάνω στό τραπέζι καί είπε γιά έναν άθλητικογράφο που γράφει την άλήθεια όπως άκριβώς είναι στήν Έλλάς,πώς θά πρέπει νά τού... άπαγορεύσουν νά μπαίνει στό νή πεδο.
